

Going green tip # 36

Contributed by Alex McAdams
08/05/2008

Do not open windows and doors in heated or air-conditioned. If one censored room becomes cooler because of an open window, the heat for the rest of the building might increase (though not needed) to try and maintain a certain heat minimum level.